DINING TABLE

“Ali, meaning ‘elevated’ in Arabic, is a dining table that tells a unique story through its top, crafted from robust lava stone from Mount Etna. The surface’s glossy finish, achieved using recycled glass from discarded monitors, showcases a commitment to sustainability. Its lightweight and sinuous design elegantly complements the Aliya dining chair, creating a harmonious set.”

Available in three sizes, Ali adapts to different spatial needs, from more intimate environments to larger settings, making it ideal for family dinners or outdoor hospitality areas. Its minimalist lines give it a light aesthetic, while its solid structure ensures both stability and durability. Ali is refined by the lava stone top and, thanks to its configurability in multiple colors and finishes, can easily meet various aesthetic preferences.

Structure (1)

The structure is made of stainless steel, finished with powder coatings available in a selection of colors that make it suitable for outdoor use, catering to diverse design preferences and application requirements. It also features distinctive finishing tips in metallic champagne or metallic bronze.

The top of Ali is made from Lava stone extracted from quarries located on the slopes of Etna. Thanks to a specially designed oven, the stone is transformed, creating an innovative natural material that enhances its technical characteristics. Available in a selection of colors, the lava stone top adds a unique and tactile touch, making it extremely practical for outdoor use due to its resistance to weather conditions and ease of maintenance.

Top Finishings

The colors of the lava stone top are achieved through the use of recycled glass which is sourced from discarded TV screens and computer monitors, reflecting a commitment to sustainability and eco-friendliness. This exclusive processing method that involves crushing and grinding the glass, generates the raw material needed for the solid color decoration of the tops surfaces, while significantly reducing waste. After a thermal treatment in a specialized industrial oven, the vitrified lava stone becomes homogeneous, smooth and glossy, donating a refined and elegant aesthetic to the tabletop.
