LOUNGE TABLE

Ghaf, inspired by the desert tree, symbolizing tolerance, is an outdoor lounge table designed by Lorenza Bozzoli. The table features a textured solid top, supported by a central leg crafted from iroko wood. The organic design of the base recalls the tree's roots, reflecting both strength and natural elegance, making Ghaf a versatile and refined addition to outdoor spaces.

Ghaf is a lounge table characterized by a textured solid top, supported by a central leg made of iroko wood, enhanced by an elegant steel decoration at the base. Available in different sizes, the surface of the top can be configured in multiple colours.

Structure (1)

Ghaf's structure is made in iroko wood treated with a water-based oil for a greater protection against UVA rays and colour uniformity.

Base (2)

The rounded base of the table is in stainless steel. It's characterized by a laser-cut surface with a decorative pattern. Between the two steel bases there is a thin plate in iroko that adds a harmonious contrast.

Top (3)

The top is made of Okumè marine plywood, a material that has excellent performance and durability in conditions of humidity and salinity. The top has CARB certification.

Top Finishings

The coating of each tabletop is manually applied by craftsmen highly specialized in artistic and decorative works, creating unique products. The surfaces are made with polymers derived from sunflower oil, natural aggregates of sand and special quartz from the Italian certified recycling circuit. All surfaces are certified non-toxic, free of epoxy resins, cement, lime and gypsum, are resistant to UVA rays and suitable for food contact.
