Maitha lounge chair is defined by its sturdy legs, a comfortable seat cushion, and a roll shaped backrest. It is available in two versions, with or without armrests.

Structure (1)

The structure is made in iroko wood treated with a water-based oil for a greater protection against UVA rays and colour uniformity. The feet are made of iroko wood and equipped with thermoplastic tips.

Armrests (2)

Made of stainless steel, the armrests are painted with powders varnishes resistant to atmospheric agents and UVA rays.

Seat Cushion (3)

Cushion's inserts, specifically engineered for superior comfort and performance, are composed of non-deformable polyurethanes in different densities to enhance firmness and support, covered by a polyester fiber net.

Back Cushion (4)

The roll cushion performs as a comfortable backrest and is removable to allow fabric's maintenance. It is made of a high density non deformable polyurethane foam.

Fabrics

The external covers are suitable for outdoor use, removable and washable. The underside of the seat cushion has two velcro straps to secure it to the structure, providing stability.
